

DEAR NETFLIX...

I am unable to use your streaming video service.

The Digital Restrictions Management (DRM) you impose would force me to give up control of my computer, an unacceptable compromise of my liberty, I'm sure you agree. Just as I and millions of others have said no to DRM on music, we're saying no to DRM on video as well now.

So, Netflix, what I really want from you this holiday season is a promise. A promise that by June 2009, Netflix will be DRM-free. Please.

Yours faithfully,

DEAR NETFLIX EMPLOYEE. PLEASE DO NOT DISCARD THIS NOTICE. THANKS, DBD MANAGEMENT.
